Glass Education: Haystack Mountain, Penland School of Craft, Urban Glass, Washington Glass School

Washington Glass School

The Washington Glass School was founded in 2001 as a unique educational program in the Nation's Capital area, operating as the sculptural glass education, artistic and community center and resource for the mid-Atlantic region, serving students, artists and the general public. Our goal is to introduce artists in other media to the depth, processes and joys of glass to enhance their work.

Washington Glass School

The Washington Glass School encourages experimentation & collaboration. 8 Resident artists work from the artist incubator space, creating a strong glass community.

Glass Art Resource

Artists, Makers, Curators and Collectors come to the Washington Glass School to see glass as a sculptural medium.

Chris Shea makes glass for his architectural metal designs.

Washington Glass Studio

The Washington Glass Studio was established in 2001 to deliver artwork and creativity into the public realm by creating site specific art commissions for urban environments. Each director brings to the projects their backgrounds in sculpture, architectural design, electronics and ecological sustainability.

Public Art

"Community Gateway Arch" 2014 at Ward 7's new Unity Healthcare Facility. The glass panel insets in the 16' tall sculpture were made with the help of the neighborhood, students of Cesar Chavez PCS, & Unity staff. WGS worked with DC Creates!, the DCCAH Council, Unity Parkside, Ward 7 ANC and the community via glass "quilting-bees" and made a communal environment where community and art were not separate.
